Subject: Important information concerning North Carolina Non-Resident Insurance Producer License expiration dates

North Carolina Non-Resident Insurance Producer Licensees do not have to pay a renewal and their licenses will remain in force as long as their home state license remains active.

North Carolina is in the process of reviewing and cancelling Non-Resident Insurance Producer Licenses that do not have an active home state license.

When this review is complete, the expiration dates for Non-Resident Insurance Producer Licenses will be advanced to show the new expiration date of March 31, 2024.

We appreciate your patience while this process takes place.
